Jackie lived life to the fullest. She loved to travel - visiting many countries throughout the world. Jackie was quite talented: whether it was painting, sewing, gardening or baking. She was also an outdoor person, who loved cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, fishing, and just taking long strolls in the woods with her camera. Jackie spent a lot of time with her family and her friends in the quilting guild, the walking group and in the painting classes. Even with such a full life, Jackie always gave freely of her time and talent to help others.
