NLTA Delegates:

It is my honour to take part in the Biennial General Meeting of the Newfoundland and Labrador Teachers' Association. On behalf of the Faculty of Education, I extend my congratulations to you all and applaud the NLTA for their ongoing work. Your profession is important and touches so many in our province. You have an instrumental role in the lives of students, through your work you impact so many and your dedication and commitment to education is admirable. All of us at the Faculty of Education are proud to be included in events with the NLTA and the teachers throughout our province.

Every year at the Induction ceremony for new teachers, I see bright and promising teachers that have successfully completed their programs, eager and ready to change the world. Many of you within the NLTA are alumni who have been part of that experience. Your ongoing support helps us at the Faculty of Education to continue to achieve excellence and constantly grow and adapt to meet the changing needs of new generations of students. Through our professional development programs and research we make every effort to produce great educators. Your involvement, continued participation and feedback is essential to that cause.

At Memorial, we continue work to improve the student experience and recently unveiled a Teaching and Learning Framework that by the end of 2023 will serve to strengthen the student educational experience. We all share the pursuit of education, to connect learners and educators to one another, the community and the world to create and exchange knowledge. Working together, we can offer our students well-rounded educational experiences which begins in our excellent school system and carries through the post-secondary experience. It all starts with great teachers.

Best regards,

A Message From
TONY STACK
CEO / DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION

On behalf of the Newfoundland and Labrador English School District, I am pleased to welcome delegates to the NLTA's 2019 Biennial General Meeting.

I know you will be undertaking important work in terms of electing an executive council; enacting changes to your bylaws and discussing resolutions and policy. We recognize these issues impact the NLTA membership, and that is important to us - because NLTA members are also our valued employees.

Some believe education is a sacred calling. It is certainly a sacred trust. As educators, we acknowledge the crucial role and responsibility we play in the development of young minds and attitudes. The District always looks forward to working with the NLTA on projects which reflect our shared values and commitment to student achievement.

I hope you take advantage of the learning opportunities available to you this week; the networking opportunities, and also take time to socialize with your colleagues. Have a great meeting.

Sincerely,

Welcome to the Biennial General Meeting of the NLTA, here in St. John's

Dear Participant,

Once again this year, the Newfoundland and Labrador Teachers' Association (NLTA) offers you a convention that promises to be very interesting and that will undoubtedly meet your needs as dedicated members of education. Whether you work at the administrative level or in the classroom, in rural or urban areas, you may encounter challenges at different points in your career. Thus, networking with your colleagues and participating in professional development activities allows you to be enriched with new strategies and approaches that will serve you well in your role as an educator.

As you know, the province is moving forward on education with the implementation of the recommendations of the Premier's Task Force on Improving Educational Outcomes. This demonstrates the openness and willingness of the Department of Education and Early Childhood Development to change in order to better meet the educational needs and to increase the quality of education in Newfoundland and Labrador, at all levels from kindergarten to grade 12

I commend you on your commitment to education. Know that every day you make a difference in the lives of many children. Dare to take risks, do not hesitate to suggest your innovative ideas and use your creativity. And as leaders, listen to your students as they are the future leaders of tomorrow.

Yours truly,

Kim Christianson

NEWFOUNDLAND AND LABRADOR
ASSOCIATION OF SCHOOL SYSTEM ADMINISTRATORS

NLTA Biennial General Meeting Delegates,

On behalf of the Newfoundland and Labrador Association of School System Administrators (NLASSA) I would like to extend greetings to all NLTA delegates attending your Biennial General Meeting from April 23-26, 2019. The theme for your upcoming BGM is "Invest in Our Kids", an ideal and purpose that our NLASSA members share with your association.

The Newfoundland and Labrador Association of School System Administrator's vision is an organization of professional educators that provides dynamic and effective leadership through individual and collective expertise, to ensure an inclusive education system that meets the educational needs of every student in the province. As part of the Canadian Association of School System Administrators (CASSA), NLASSA leaders work to support educational change throughout the country. To that end, I would highlight three core beliefs of our association that is certainly shared by NLTA members:

"The primary focus of schooling is student learning, and all decisions regarding curriculum, teachers, and pedagogy must positively impact the learning process."

"NLASSA has an essential, influential, and collaborative leadership role in education in Newfoundland and Labrador."

"In our education system, successful schooling that ensures every student's success is derived from dynamic collaboration among students, parents, teachers, school boards, associations/unions, community members, and Government."

Our association remains steadfast in continuing collaboration with NLTA staff and membership. At the heart of this collaboration we envision open and respectful communication, innovative problem-solving and student-centered decision making. The impetus for such collaboration is our collective goal of providing leadership to create and support learning environments where all students can thrive.

Once again, we hope that your Biennial General meeting is informative and constructive for all delegates. Furthermore, we wish your new Executive Council all the best in the year ahead.

Sincerely,
